"Capturing Memories: How I Researched & Wrote my Family History"

Dr. Muriel Gold, C.M., theatre educator, producer/director, grew up in Montreal, attended Strathcona Academy, received her B.A. from Sir George Williams, her M.A. from McGill, and her Ph.D from Concordia. She is former Artistic Director of the Saidye Bronfman Centre Theatre, for which, during her eight-year tenure, she won acclaim from theatre critics, academics and the public at large. Dr. Gold has been on the McGill faculty teaching acting, at Concordia, Drama in Education and Drama with Special Populations, at Dawson College in the Professional Theatre Department, as well as many workshops at various institutions.

Everyone is welcome!
